

InterraIT - Cloud Services Competencies

Modernizing application platforms and delivering “IT as a Service” has become quite necessary to support unpredictable business requirements and multi-geography projects. With multiple cloud options available – private, public or hybrid, it is important for the enterprise IT to choose the right configuration to implement a sound cloud strategy.

Also with adoption of latest cloud technologies, the existing IT application portfolio might become more heterogeneous and complex. Hence it is important to facilitate seamless cloud integration to deliver greater business value and enhanced customer satisfaction.
